Age is at date of admission. This table does not represent the result of a census taken at a particular time on 30/6/00. Rather, it presents the number of young people who spent any part of 30/6/00 in custody. In previous years, a category of 'invoked suspended sentence' was included. It has now been deleted because it is no longer used as a coding option. All invoked suspended sentences are now recorded as detention.

As daily average occupancy figures have been rounded, totals may not correspond exactly with the sum of the daily averages for individual authorities. Due to the effects of rounding which occur when averages are calculated, the column and row totals do not always equal the sum of the individuals column/row figures. In previous years, a category of 'invoked suspended sentence' was included. It has now been deleted because it is no longer used as a coding option. Racial identity has been assigned by social workers. Age is at date of admission. There was a daily occupancy of 0.86 where the racial identity of the youths was not recorded. These have not been included. As daily average occupancy figures have been rounded, totals may not correspond exactly with the sum of the daily averages for individual authorities. Due to the effects of rounding which occur when averages are calculated, the column and row totals do not always equal the sum of the individuals column/row figures. In previous years, a category of 'invoked suspended sentence' was included. It has now been deleted because it is no longer used as a coding option. All invoked suspended sentences are now recorded as detention.
