Total victimisations: each victim is counted once per offence group per incident report.

Discrete victims per offence group: each victim is counted once only per offence group in 2006.

Discrete victims per age group: each victim is counted only once per age group in 2006.

Discrete victims: each victim is counted once only in 2006.

For a more detailed explanation of these counting rules, refer to Appendix.

In this table, only personal victims are included. Non-personal victims such as corporations are excluded.

In previous years, this table contained information on larceny from the person victimisations. However, with the proclamation of the Offences of Dishonesty legislation in July 2003, this offence category became subsumed within the general category of theft. It is therefore no longer possible to separately identify larceny from the person offences.
