JANCO Classification System

Carol Castle and Lynne Sampson

INTRODUCTION

The JANCO classification system was adopted throughout the Justice Information System and the Courts Administration Authority in 1992 and is managed and administered by the Office of Crime Statistics. JANCO is an adaptation of the Australian Bureau of Statistics' ANCO (Australian National Classification of Offences, 1985. Catalogue No. 1234.0) classification system. JANCO adheres to the most detailed level of ANCO and extends this to even more detailed levels to highlight items of interest obscured by the generality of ANCO. The first three digits of JANCO faithfully represent the ANCO classification.

Offences are grouped into nine categories which cover twelve major offence types. In some instances, additional lower levels of JANCO are used to distinguish particular subgroups of offences or to provide information on the characteristics of the victim (i.e. age group, sex), relationship between victim and offender, type of premises victimised, type of weapon used, etc, which are required for State level reporting.

Each JANCO classification level generally contains a number of offences of the same type that may be located in either or both State and Commonwealth legislation. For example, the JANCO offence category of kidnapping includes offences of that type under State legislation (Kidnapping Act, Criminal Law Consolidation Act), Commonwealth legislation (Crimes (Internationally Protected Persons) Act) and common law. Further information regarding the legislation contained in each JANCO category is available from the Office of Crime Statistics and Research on request.

In 1997 the Australian Bureau of Statistics introduced the Australian Standard Offence Classification (ASOC) (Australian Standard Offence Classification, 1997. Catalogue No. 1234.0), to replace ANCO. The two systems are not directly comparable, with ASOC having sixteen divisions rather than ANCO's eight divisions.

The Office of Crime Statistics and Research has maintained JANCO as its primary reporting classification system to allow comparability over time. The Office maintains a conversion table to allow reporting by the JANCO or by the ASOC classification system as required.

Notes

Attempts, Aid and Abet, Conspiracy to and Accessory Offences

Apart from attempted murder (for which there are specific categories -112 and 113), attempts, aid and abet, conspiracy to, or accessory before the fact are classified to the relevant lowest level of offence category where the offence is known Accessory, etc before the fact where the offence type is not known and accessory after the fact are coded to 5496

A Level 9 Offence Group, which does not exist in ANCO, has been added to cover non offence matters, such as issuance of restraining orders, which are required for reporting at the State level.

When applying an Offence Code, the lowest category within the hierarchical structure for the appropriate offence group should be applied. For example, 112 should not be applied since 1121 and 1122 exist.

Within the 121 'Assault occasioning grievous bodily harm' offence group, 12111, 12112, 12113, 12121, 12122, 12123, 12131, 12132, 12133, 12191, 12192 or 12193 should be applied.
